The monument erected to the memory of Captain Wm. Morgan, at Batavia, and to be unveiled during the fourteenth annual convention of the National Christian Association, to be held at Batavia next Wednesday and Thursday, is nearly forty feet in height, and bears a statue of Capt. Morgan seven feet six inches high. The cost of the monument ($2,500) has been raised by subscription throughout the country. One of the inscriptions on the monument is this: monument is this:

WILLIAM MORGAN,
a native of Virginia,
a Captain in the War of 1812, a Respectable Citizen of Batavia and a Martyr to Writing, Printing and Speaking the Truth. He was abducted from near this spot in the year 1876
by Free Masons.
and Murdered for Revealing the Secrets of Their Order.

The monument will be unveiled on Wednesday. The exercises will be a hymn, composed for the occasion, prayers by President J. Blanchard, of the National Christian Association; presentation address on behalf of the Monument Committee by Rey. David McFall, of Boston; an address by Professor C. A. SECRET SOCIETIES DENOUNCED.

Dr. Howard Crosby has written the following letter to Rev. J. P. Stoddard, Secretary of the National Christian Associa-

NEW YORK, August 7, 1882. VERY DEAR SIR: I am not able to be present at your Convention, as you suggest, but I am heartily with you in opposition to the secret society principle. Secret societies are childish, cowardly and they assume religious feature, they are but a solemn mockery of true religion. Under a tyraunical government there may be some excuse for such societies (and yet then I should be slow to indorse them) but in our country they are only silly snares for senseless souls, and it is the part of good citizenship to expose their folly, Yours, very truly, HOWARD CROSBY.

INTERVIEW WITH A PROMINENT MASON.

A Telegram reporter called to-day on Grand Recorder Robert Macoy to gain his views concerning the erection of the monument to Morgan. Mr. Macoy is considered one of the oldest and best informed Masons in the state. The reporter asked him for particulars of the Morgan abduction case, and he replied:

"Morgan was a blacksmith living in Batavia. He was a thief, a drunkard and a wife-beater. These facts were not known to the Lodge that made him a Mason until some time after he had joined the Order. As a Mason he was an impostor, working his way among Masons by the grossest falsehoods. He employed the then Grand Lecturer. Blanchard Powes, to instruct him. He was thus enabled to play the character of a mercenary dependent upon Masonic charity. He took the Degree of Royal Arch at Le Roy, and began immediately to prepare an 'exposition' of such of the esoteric Masonic matters as he could remember or as would best serve his purton. shameful task, and they denounced him pursue it in Paris.

through the newspapers. On September 12, 1826, he was arrested upon a warrant for theft, and taken to Canandaigua. Four days later he was released, and taken in a carriage to Fort Niagara, at the mouth of the river by that name, a distance of 115 miles. This journey was made with his own consent. He was confined in the fort a few days in a room formerly used as a powder magazine. There all traces of him disappear.

WAS MORGAN'S BODY FOUND?

"A body was found in the whirpool below "A body was found in the whirpool below Niagara Falls, and it was said to be that of Morgan, but the identity was never established. The theory is absurd that Eli Bruce, sheriff of the county, and the men who assisted him would have publicly conveyed Morgan over one hundred miles to throw him over the Falls. There was an alarming excitement over the affair. Anti-Masonic Associations were formed. They worked in the political campaign that fall and carried the State. Thurlow Weed was among the Anti-Masonic politicians. He was informed Masonic politicians. He was informed that the body found was not that of Mor-

INTENSE EXCITEMENT.

"The trial created much excitement. Bruce narrowly escaped conviction. Men of unquestionable veracity testified that the only object of carrying off Morgan was to produce a separation between him and his publisher, Miller, and thereby prevent a publication of Morgan's books.

Was Morgan killed? Morgan had neglected his family, had no property, was despised by the community, owed many debts, had a charge of largeny hanging debts, had a charge of larceny hanging over his head and was only too glad to turn his back forever upon his native place.

THE PREVAILING THEORY.

"The theroy held by the best informed is that he was supplied with money by his abductors and passed over into Canada, the scene of former adventures in his career, he met the end likely to befall a man whose pockets were sufficiently well lined to make him the victim of a highwayman. The suspicion that he was murdered by his abductors will never be entertained by a person who looks closely into the charcorrupting, and true men ought to be acter of the men who took him upon that ashamed of them and quit them. When journey and the train of circumstances connected with that unfortunate affair. It is possible that the whole truth may yet come out. I have just received a letter from Mr. Robert Morris, of La Grange, Oldham county, Ky. It is dated from Batayia. Mr. Morris writes me that he has spent thirty years in trying to solve the Morgan mystery, and that he is now at Batavia to procure closing proof upon which to publish the result of his investigation.
